George Peabody and Socialism.

Some people imagine that rich men are becomming more wedded to riches, more aggressive in the acquisition of weath, at the expense of the working classes. Hence the agitation in favor of Socialism. There may be grounds for this imagination, but we have yet in our midst our Peter Cooper's, our George Peabody's, and our Miss Nitingale's—who think more of the welfare of the struggling classes than many are aware of, and who employ their time and money in extending good to as many as possible in their declining years. One of those is an old retired physician by the name of J. P. Mountain, whose address is Ogdensburgh, N. Y., who has placed in his hands a simple cure for consumption, catarrh, asthma, headache and nervousness. The old gentleman has means which make him independent, and he employs his time and money in a very flandable enterprise. He sends the recipe free to any person sending for it, with instructions for preparing and using, requiring only that the party so sending cuclose a stamp to pay the postage. He has now distributed over one million of those recipes, and in this part may have been cared by the use of the same.
